

for Our grandchildren
our legacy, their future

Welcome

Dear For Our Grandchildren Supporter,

We know that there are many supporters who use the Web to follow our blogs that cover the climate change issues of the day. We are distributing this enews to supporters, friends, and visitors who have registered to receive our emails. We anticipate that our enews will be published once a month, and will cover items that we think should receive your particular attention.

If you live in Canada you will appreciate that the Canadian Government is stingy with information and statistics about climate change. We will attempt to fill the information gap, along with the many environmental organizations that are already active in the public domain and who do excellent work.

One difference is that our focus is primarily on grandparents, either actual or prospective. Our philosophy is that this group is concerned about a future they will not see, and a world in a state that they do not wish on their grandchildren.

We appreciate your support. Stay with us so that we can be effective.

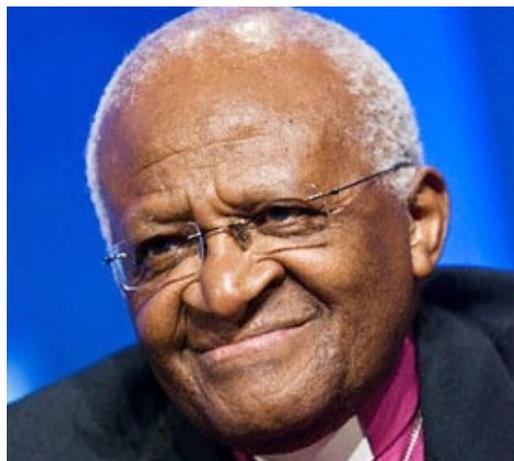

Recent News at For Our Grandchildren

Desmond Tutu an honorary Member

Bishop Tutu is one of the moral leaders in the fight to reduce CO₂, the principal cause of global warming.

We are pleased that as a grandparent he has accepted our invitation to become an honorary Member of For Our Grandchildren.

His message, quoted on our web site, is one that could be the message of For Our Grandchildren:

"Do your little bit of good where you are; it's those little bits of good together that overwhelm the world."

Ottawa Backtracks on Coal Emissions

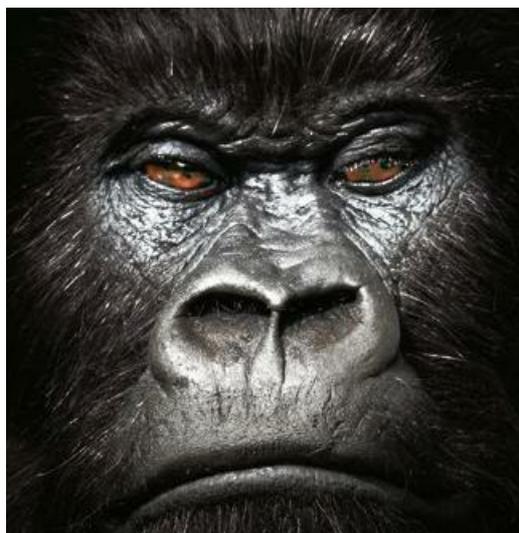

Last January 6 the Harper Government unveiled a new approach towards the regulation of Greenhouse Gases from coal-fired plants.

The Government moved away from its previous "tough" policy in response to negative comments from the power generation industry characterizing that policy as an idealistic solution.

Climate change is a "hoax"

Republicans are either climate change Sceptics or Deniers. The Republican Senator for Oklahoma, Jim Inhofe, has described global warming as a "hoax". During the Durban Conference, his Press Office released a video in which he congratulated the opponents of the Kyoto Protocol, which he said was "dead".

Ironically he claims that he is doing and saying these things for the sake of his 20 children and grandchildren.

“Happy New Year”

These salutations filled the air as we sought to accord our best wishes to relatives, friends and neighbours as the holiday season ended and we all found ourselves facing the new calendar entitled 2012.
